In Memory of Mrs. Law.

Composed by JANET THOMSON.

It is not death to fall asleep
Upon your Saviour's breast,
To close your eyes whilst loved ones weep,
And enter into rest.

It is not death to cease to breathe,
To fling life burdens down,
And flit away to claim the wreath
Of glory and renown.

It is not death to say farewell
To every fleeting thing,
To leave this transient sphere to swell
The chorus angels sing.

It is not death to part from clay,
So long our mortal prison,
Then soar above earth's gloom and spray,
To dwell with Christ the risen.

It is not death the step to take
From the terrestrial stand,
To leave a life-boat and forsake
Earth for the fatherland.

It is not death when kisses seal
From friends our exile-down,
If angels kneel then kneel
To view a throne and crown.

It is not death, ye need not weep
When one whose work is o'er,
A man of God lies down to sleep
And wakes on Canada's shore.

The Northwest Central.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—In the Senate yesterday, Hon. Mr. Boulton asked the Premier when the Great Northwest Central would be in operation. He said there were more than a million and a half of population in the Northwest, and that the Government was anxious to know the intentions of the company.

Premier Abbott, in reply, said the Government was quite aware of the importance of the road. During the past fortnight the Government has been making enquiries. Charlbois, the contractor, had submitted a memorandum of his claim to the Minister of Railways, which was now under consideration. Recently Hon. Mr. Clewson, a member of the company, informed him the line would be in operation in about ten days.

Senator Clewson explained that difficulties had arisen between Charlbois and the company of English capitalists who now formed the company. It was matter to litigation it would delay the operation of the line. It would almost mean ruin to everybody, the contractors, the road and that section through which the road ran. He was a director and would do all in his power to secure the early running of the line.

Charlbois, contractor of the road is here, and speaking to a correspondent to-night he said: "Having been satisfied that the company of which I am a member was unable to pay my claim of over $300,000, I decided to apply for foreclosure. I have already submitted a statement to the government and expect an answer at an early date. There is no reason why the road should not be operated this fall. I have the contract for the additional fifty miles, and will likely begin grading operations at an early date."

This District.

A correspondent to the Free Press has this to say of this district: "Among other places visited was the extensive farm of J. H. Sandison, who owns five sections, much of which is in one block. Eighteen hundred acres were in crop this year, of which 1,500 was wheat. Twelve binders were required to cut this crop, and it is all now in stock. The crop on this farm was a little earlier than most in the neighborhood. Only 300 acres was standing when the frost came. This, Mr. Sandison said, would be no loss to him, as he found frozen wheat was as good as any for seed and he will need more than that quantity next year, as he intends sowing four thousand acres. On the farm two threshers were at work with teams drawing the sheaves to them. He expected a yield of as much as 40 bushels to the acre of some of his land. Another man who has threshed some has an actual yield of 42 bushels per acre. The grain throughout this section appears to have not lain down to the same extent as in many places visited, and therefore stood a better chance of not being damaged by the frost.

Snodgrass was tried by some of the farmers and everyone spoken to on the subject was in favor of the system and was confident of its success in warding off such light frosts as have here this season, though it may raise the temperature 5°.

Stacking hands and threshers are in great demand all over the country and the supply does not seem to be adequate to the demand. The question most often heard is: "Do you know where I can get a man?" and the hurried way in which the countless farmer asks it shows he has no time to lose.

PORT ARTHUR.

Mr. Wiley is Again to Manage the Northern.

Port Arthur, Sept. 13.—F. S. Wiley, for many years connected with Northern hotel, assumes the management on Monday. Owing to improved business prospects here it will be kept open all winter.

D. F. Burk, president of the Ontario and Rainy River railway, has made a proposal to operate rapid transit service over his railway without any charge or bonus from the town, except the usual fares.

The improved trade prospects in the west has caused Graham, Horne & Co. to import two million of saw lumber in addition to their already cut.

The By-Laws.

The two by-laws submitted to the ratepayers of Brandon Monday—the one for waterworks and the other for sewers and public improvements—were both carried by large majorities as below:

DOUGLAS.

Douglas, Sept. 14.—Again our two town ponies "Dandy" and "Billy" have skipped out by the light of the moon. Their anxious owners have scoured the country, but so far have found nothing but so far have found nothing but an addition to their wealth. Anyone seeing a black horse parading with a cream one sporting a silver tail, will please give them the "right about face."

Mr. E. W. Leeson's eldest child, a little girl of about three years, met with a severe accident on Friday last. She had been taken into the carriage in which Mrs. J. C. Ross and her little son Roy were driving, but Roy, through some lack of dexterity, allowed the horse to wheel sharply about, thus throwing the occupants upon the ground. The little girl struck upon her shoulder, fracturing her collar bone, while the others escaped unharmed. The little patient stood the bandaging like a soldier and at present is doing nicely.

Mr. W. A. Thompson intends returning to Toronto next week to continue his studies in the healing art at Trinity college.

Mrs. Coulton will soon be able to leave her room after her long and serious illness.

Last week gave an increase in our population. Only three and still there's room. Tom has not been seen in the fields since the event.

Mr. Howarth preached to a large congregation in Sunday evening, and held their attention with his usual ability.

Mr. D. F. Dickson has accepted his nomination as librarian in the Presbyterian Sunday school, expenses guaranteed.

Where was Roy when the buggy upset?

The change of advt. for the Wells Hardware & Plumbing Co. was received too late for this issue. Look for it next week.

CORRESPONDENCE.

TO THE EDITOR:

Sir,—From appearance it would seem as though the Salvation Army would soon lose the object for which it was instituted. About two years ago, when the electric light system was introduced into this city, the Army people were asked to use it in their barracks, they refused on the ground that it would be endorsing Sunday work. The Army has since seen the error of their ways, however, and lately have had electric lights placed in their barracks. The building has now a cheerful look and is very much more inviting than heretofore.

Yours truly,

"OBSERVER."

Getting a Gait On.

London, Sept. 9.—It is rumored that the British fleet now in the Mediterranean will shortly be ordered to Constantinople as a hint to the Sultan of the possible fate of his city should he become too aggressive toward England. It is also stated in a dispatch from Stambul that the British fleet when it arrives will pass the Dardanelles into the Black Sea and give notice thereby to Russia that the Black Sea is not a Russian lake.

London, Sept. 9.—The British ambassador at Constantinople, Sir William White, some days since despatched a vigorous note to the Porte demanding an apology for affronts offered to British merchant vessels in the Dardanelles.

Bright Prospects.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The Empire says the last few years in Manitoba and the West have not been favorable ones for the reception of emigrants. While persistent reports of frost and wholesale misrepresentation of the climate and condition of that country have been sent abroad by unscrupulous press agents of the United States have added materially to the difficulties of our farmers, but the revelation of its vast resources and possibilities which this year's magnificent crops will afford cannot but do that great section of the Dominion as much good abroad as will the many millions of incoming dollars to the patient farmers of the Territories.

Russians Disappointed.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—There is considerable irritation and disappointment in Russia owing to the discovery that the agreement with Turkey does not allow her war vessels in the Dardanelles to openly manifest their hostility to England.

SOURIS.

Souris, Sept. 11.—On Wednesday evening about 20 members of Brandon city L.O.O.F. Lodge No. 6, drove into town and everybody seemed amazed and wondered what could be their errand, but it was soon learned that a very interesting and important event was about to take place, viz., the organization of an L.O.O.F. lodge in Souris. Supper being over the Brandonites accompanied by their would-be brethren took up their abode in Smith & Sherriff's hall and at once went to work to add another lodge to their noble order. L. M. Morris, G.M., of Manitoba, occupied the chair, and called for the names of those seeking admission as charter members and in response received the names of 17 persons all of whom were duly initiated by the Grand Master. The lodge will be known as Souris Lodge L.O.O.F. No. 21, and the following officers were elected: N. G., A. J. Hughes; V.G., G. A. Thompson; Rec. Sec'y, Alf. Curry; Fin. Sec'y, Chas. Peterson; Treas., J. G. Baasted; R.S.N.G., G. W. M. Forbes; L.S.N.G., G. S. Ferguson; Warden, Dr. W. A. Sherriff; Conductors, Ben. Burdick, C.S.S., A. E. Lewis; A. W. Badger, R.S.V.G., Alex. Ross; L.S.V.G., Wm. Bates, jr.; Chap., S. F. Hodgson.

Mrs. Mrs. Livingston, who have been spending a few days with their daughter, Mrs. K., at their home at Minn. have returned to their residence last Monday.

Mr. J. W. Hodgson, brother of S. P. Hodgson, arrived from Ontario on Wednesday, bringing with him a curio of horses and one of sheep.

John Mason, stage driver, is confined to his room at present, suffering from a slight attack of inflammation.

Mrs. W. F. Burley arrived home Wednesday after a couple of months' visiting through Ontario.

We'll write it down till everybody sees it. Till everybody is sick of seeing it. Till everybody knows it without seeing it—that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of chronic catarrh in the head, catarrhal headache, and "cold in the head." In perfect faith, its makers, the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., offers to pay $500 to any one suffering from chronic catarrh in the head whom they cannot cure.

Now if the conditions were reversed—if they asked you to pay $500 for a positive cure you might hesitate. Here are reputable men, with years of honorable dealing; thousands of dollars and a great name back of them and they say—"We can cure you because we have cured thousands of others like you—if we can't we will pay you $500 for the knowledge that there is one who can cure you. And it is worth a trial. And if you don't believe it, we will pay you $500."

A change has been made in the time of the stage between Souris and Brandon, it now leaving Souris at 6.15 a.m., and arriving at Brandon at 10.45. Returning it leaves Brandon at 1.30 p.m., arriving at Souris at 6 p.m. Previously it left Souris at 6.15 a.m., and Brandon at 2 p.m., and arrived at the same time, thus allowing half an hour each way to make the trip.

Mr. Burley's new residence on 1st st. is being beautifully decorated by the brush of Capt. Kennedy and Mr. Ayres of Winnipeg. Mr. Burley expects to be able to move into it in a week or two. When finished it will be one of the most fashionable residences in town. Mr. Doyell and Mr. McDonald's new residences are also fast approaching completion.

OAK LAKE.

Oak Lake, Sept. 7.—Misses Taylor and Holmes, of Winnipeg, and Miss Nairn, of Toronto, leave for Winnipeg to-day.

The house which R. Grey has been building for Rev. Mr. Brown, Methodist minister, is now complete. It is well plastered and nicely painted, and is a credit to Mr. Grey. Rev. Mr. Brown and wife are expected to arrive from Montreal this week.

Oak Lake is badly in need of fire protection. New buildings are going up on all sides and should a fire occur on the main street now the damage would be more considerable than formerly, in fact with a high wind it would be hard to save the town.

Mr. Cross, who has been collecting samples of grain through Manitoba for the Toronto Exposition, says that the samples of wheat, and oats, from this district are the earliest and best which he has been able to collect.

Mr. W. McBeth, who is a divinity student at a Philadelphia college, arrived on Thursday evening. He will spend some time with relatives here, and hopes to recruit his health in the bracing air of Manitoba.

H. Hatch, J. P., has his brother visiting him from Quebec.

E. S. Pifer has bought "Bluffhurst," formerly owned by D. Moore, sr.

GLENFELL.

New steam threshers are the order of the day. Mr. O. P. Skrine has obtained one and a traction engine which made its first trip on Wednesday last. One for Messrs. Fleming and Aldred is also on hand.

Mr. McEwen's lecture was well attended on Wednesday last and many of the farmers will profit by his instruction. Of course there are still some who made their money before the war, etc., etc., and who dislike the new fangled ways, but after all they pay, and that is what the farmer wants.

The prize list for the fair on Oct. 6th is drawn up and will be distributed in a few days. It is very full and extensive.

The Rev. S. B. Musselman, of Whitehead, preached at Musselburg, the German settlement, on Sunday last in the morning, and in the Methodist church, Glenfell, in the evening. The Rev. J. W. Dickinson taking that gentleman's services at Whitehead.

Harvesting is in full swing.

MACLEOD.

Macleod, Sept. 13.—The South Alberta Turf Association held their annual meeting at 9.30 the Polo club entertained the numerous strangers by a lively game on the grounds near the Fort. A fine display of race horses were here from Calgary, Pincher Creek, Lethbridge, Camington Manor and elsewhere. Capital races were run on the course.

Tomorrow will be taken up with second-class racing, in which the Black-sheep will take a prominent part as usual on such occasions.

Never were the cattle upon ranges in better condition. The growth of bunch grass this year is something to be wondered at.

It is rumored that the Macleod and Calgary railway contractors are working at Mosquito Creek, some 40 miles south of Calgary. So much for August's work. It is thought the railway will be completed to Macleod by the end of October.

Germany Suspicious.

London, Sept. 10.—A Berlin despatch says that the utterances of M. De Freycinet, the French Minister of War, in favor of peace are not regarded as of much weight in Germany, owing to the fact that the attitude of the French people remains so absolutely hostile, and that of Russia is virtually aggressive. It is not believed, however, that the war will begin on the Franco-Russian frontier but that the drama will be opened at Constantinople. The news from that point has for several days overcome in interest anything heard from France, and the opinion is openly expressed that a collision will shortly take place between the British and the Porte unless the Sultan chooses to yield to England's demands. If he defies Lord Salisbury he may expect to see the Russians under pretext of assisting him, promptly occupy Constantinople; and if he does give in to the British, then the Russians become his enemies.

The Sultan is said to be most perplexed over the situation and angry at the dismissed ministers, whom he accuses of having got into the dilemma. The latest story of their dismissal is that the Grand Vicer Khan and the minister of war permitted to look out a plan that the Sultan had formed for the overthrow of the Khedive, Tewfik, and the resumption of sovereignty over Egypt. The Sultan has long been urged by Russia and France to put an end to British occupation in Egypt, and his inclinations were decidedly in that direction. It is said on excellent authority that a plot has been formed to seize Tewfik, and to convey him to Constantinople as a prisoner, where his father, Ismail, is now held in virtual captivity. Then to appoint a new Khedive by a firm direct from the Porte and demand that the British at once recognize his authority, which would be sustained by the landing of Turkish troops at Alexandria. It was believed that the British would not under such circumstances care to enter into open hostilities with the Sultan or Suez Canal of Egypt. The plot was believed to be a profound secret, confined to the Sultan, to Vicer Khan and the Minister of War, but somehow the British became aware of it, and the sudden appearance of a British fleet in Alexandria in July was the consequence of the discovery, and a notice both to the Egyptians and to Turkey that any interference with Tewfik would be followed by another bombardment.

This put an end to the scheme, much to the chagrin of the Sultan, who has ever since, it is said, been determined to have a change of ministry although he deferred the blow apparently in hope that he would be able to detect the British agent in his cabinet. It is rumored at Constantinople that since the dismissal of the ministers a very cruel means have been used to wring information from them as from their servants and some of the latter have even been subjected to torture and death.

A Gordon-Cumming case happened on Tuesday. A very brilliant staff Captain, Count d'Andlau—who was one of the emperor's quartermasters—was caught cheating at Compiegne. The Emperor was informed that Captain d'Andlau had been under suspicion. To prevent a scandal Napoleon imposed secrecy upon the accusers, and d'Andlau pledged himself not to touch cards again. On this condition he was allowed to remain an officer in the army and a Knight of the Legion of Honor; but he was sent to join the French expedition in Mexico. D'Andlau fought well and earned promotion. He was sent from Mexico to Algeria (being never permitted to return to France while the Empire lasted), and his secret was so faithfully kept that at the end of the Franco-German war he had risen to a Colonelcy and a year or two afterwards became a General. Then he laid himself open to another charge of swindling and was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, and the history came out.

BRANDON MAIL.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1901.

A LEADER.

The one great trouble of the Greenwayites just now is the alleged inability of the opposition to suggest the name of a leader to succeed Thomas Greenway, in case of a change of party in the next elections. It is not, of course, our duty to urge a leader on the party, but to our mind the country could desire no better man than Dr. Harrison. It is true he made the mistake of taking office in the Norquay government when it was discredited in the country and is therefore, as politics go, in a measure responsible for some of the sins of that government; but his responsibility is not in complicity but in association only, when the matter is viewed in the proper light. That he made a mistake in accepting office in the days of that regime is a fact no one can deny, but he joined to do in reality what Col. McMillan is alleged to have desired to do with the Greenway government. The difference between the two gentlemen in this respect is this: After the Doctor got into office he found it was too late to make an attempt, and the gallant Colonel has never yet mustered courage to make it though the opportunities to do so are daily at his command. Dr. Harrison, on taking office, found the mind of the public so distracted by the contentions of the Farmers' Unions, by cries of the Greenwayites, who by the abolition of the C. P. R. monopoly were going to secure such railway competition without a cent of cost to the people, as would give the farmers ten cents a bushel more for their wheat, etc., etc., that nothing but a change of government would suffice. And of the following who were elected to support him he saw a strong contingent including the innumerable J. M. Robinson, bent on plunder and blood money alone. Instead then of working the reforms he desired, he found it kept him busy guarding the door of the treasury from the raids of the Norquayites. With, however, the country rid of these, as it is most likely to be for a long time, and the representatives of the people made up of good men, Dr. Harrison is the best man to our mind for the position.

It is charged by the Greenwayites that if a change took place the government would fall into the hands of Robert Rogers, J. N. Kirchhoff, etc., etc., and they are now as they were then, Norquayites of the first water; but this is not the truth. In days past it was simply a question of Norquay or Greenway, and without endorsing the government of the one they were compelled to accept it, or fall into the mistake, as the country has since done, of accepting the other. To a man who can swim there is a choice even between "the devil and the deep sea," and they accepted the latter, and country will excuse them for their preference. For his time there is no man who deserves better of the country than Mr. Robinson, but the next government must be a coalition and with his length of opposition to Greenway he could hardly expect from the new legislature first place, and we are confident he is not looking for it. There are besides the names of Messrs. Gillies and others whose claims, of course, must be considered. While in his department as Minister of Agriculture there is no one who will accuse the Doctor of extravagance, inability or anything unfitting him for higher trust, and in his private life there is no one not even the Winnipeg Tribune, will attempt a comparison of the present premier with him. He is educated, clever and clear, and surrounded with good men, as he certainly would be, if allowed to make his own choice, the country would be perfectly safe in his hands.

As we said at the outset it is not our duty to make premier for the people, but as a public journalist we consider it a duty to name possibly available and capable material when the country appears to be in quest of it.

A FIASCO EXPLODED.

The Winnipeg Tribune, one of those virtuous prints that could see nothing wrong in the wholesale purchase of North Brandon by Sifton and his righteous friends, was one of those prints that saw mountains of corruption in the accounts of patrol boat Keewatin, and was ascending the zenith of its glory when the country was put to $3,000 expense to drag witnesses to Ottawa, to investigate the charges made by Stewart against Hon. Governor Schultz. Stewart accused His Honor, of cooking the accounts in connection with the boat, and at once Mr. Mulock, M.P., was primed with such a taste for scandal that several witnesses were dragged to the capital, of course when Stewart's accusation was fully satisfied, by a little wise head than the one that directs the Tribune, it was fully ascertained that there was "no case to go to the jury," but the expense had been incurred and a pretense at going through a fiasco had to be attempted. In the ordinary course of such affairs the prosecution, or the accusers should be examined, to make out their case, but knowing there was no case an attempt was made to force His Honor to first take the stand with the hope a peg might be fixed out upon which they might make a show of decency in an attempt to hang a hat. His Honor, of course, promptly refused to be bulldozed—he said in effect "Gentlemen, if you have any accusation to make go on and make it, and produce your proof, and I will then give my version of things." They refused to go on and the fizzle collapsed.

Is it not a pity there is not some way of making men like these put up the costs of such fizzes to save the treasury of the country?

We might say that if the Tribune really wants to see a scandal exposed let it take up the North Brandon election. If it only secures a tribunal by which men can be examined under oath, we will first establish a case that will satisfy even the nostrils of that delectable print. If the Tribune only secures a cheap means by which Clifford Sifton, C. Pilling, J. A. Johnston, C. E. Hall, T. D. Macfarlane, James, Bryans, F. A. Wilcocks and R. J. Nixon (the last two government officials, by the way) can be examined under oath, it will readily learn how from 75 to 100 of Mr. Sifton's votes were secured for him and taken from his opponent. It won't require the evidence of opponents to forfeit it on that score.

SUPERANNUATION.

It must appear to those who give the matter full consideration that the system of superannuation observed by governments is a false one. It may be true and doubtless is, to a large extent at least, that when government officials and clerks spend a number of years in offices they become practically unfitted for any other calling, but that does not alter the circumstances. The farmer who follows farming, for instance, half a lifetime becomes by virtue of usage unfitted for other pursuits, and so on of men who spend a large number of years in any other callings.

If it was a fact they were forced into these offices, that they were not the positions of their choice, the argument would be a valid one, but it otherwise is not. In almost every instance government officials are appointed to office as the position of their choice through the influence of friends; it is the calling of their preference, of all within their reach. Then why bonus them by a superannuation? The argument is that after a life of this kind they have insufficient to live on in old age, when unfitted for longer service; but the same argument might rightly be applied to the case of individuals in all other callings. If the man who is forced to accept a calling for which he has neither inclination or adaptability, because he has neither friends nor influence to elect him to other callings, is compelled in such a position to provide for old age, with greater force can the argument be applied to those who are in the calling of their choice. No; if government officials have means enough laid by to care for themselves in old age, it is but waste of money to give them more, and if they have not enough giving them a superannuation is but encouraging the waste of a life that ought to be turned to better account. It costs the Canadian government a large sum annually to cover superannuations, and acknowledging the principle at all is but rewarding idleness at the expense of more industrious but less highly favored fellow beings.

The Algoma election protest against James Connors failed through because the petitioner failed to prove that Connors had offered a situation to a Mr. Tennant, if he (Tennant) would vote for him. What do the Greenwayites of North Brandon think if a protest had been entered against Sifton on the same ground. Mr. Arch. Meggett came to Brandon and voluntarily offered Mr. Cliffe his support a month before polling. A week before polling he repeated his determination to carry out his promise. On polling day he voted for Mr. Sifton, and a week later he was a clerk in the Registry office. If that is not bribery within the meaning of the law such as would have disqualified Sifton then no one knows what is. But of course he is one of those high-minded, honorable men, who would be the last to break the law of his own creating.

The Toronto News in a late issue asks the following question:—Will Mr. J. D. Edgar answer these questions? Did Capt. Larkin contribute $50,000 to Liberal campaign fund, and if so, did Mr. Edgar get any of the money? The Larkin referred to is the former head of the somewhat famous firm, Larkin & Connolly, and is the same individual who induced Mr. J. D. Edgar to modify the course of the Globe as to the British Columbia graving dock when the Larkin firm were building it.

The Hon. A. M. Peterson, ex-Attorney General of the Greenwayites, and who, by the way, writes those highly moral editorials in the Brandon Sun, puts his both feet on hooding until it comes within his own reach. Last week he had, however, a novel case in court—it was an action for rent against a member of the city School Board. He claims he rented a certain property to the said school trustee on a conditional plan. If the School Board bought a property he is interested in the rent was to be $100, and if the School Board did not purchase from him the rent was to be $200. Well, the Board did not buy from him and hence the action. If a minister at Ottawa, or one of the civil servants were to make a contract of that character, the subject would form the basis of a column article for ten successive weeks in the Brandon Sun on hooding and corruption, but when it comes to the immaculate Peterson and the School Board, the public are told nothing about it. In genuity and probity combined accomplish a great deal.

IMMIGRATION POLICY.

Toronto, Sept. 11.—The Globe discusses the failure of the Dominion immigration system and says the true immigration policy was advocated by Sir Alexander Gait, when Finance Minister, and by the Liberals at that time and since, namely to keep the debt and taxation down to the lowest notch so that we might be able to offer greater advantages to foreign labor and capital than they could obtain in the States.

The Winnipeg Tribune has the foregoing with much gusto. Yes, indeed, that "we might be able" to offer greater inducements than the States do to foreign labor and capital. And who but the Tribune, the Globe, and prints like that will dare to say that we do not offer greater inducements than the States do to foreign labor and capital. Our taxation is not half that of the States, and laborers and capitalists care not a straw what our debt is, so long as our taxation is light.

Seventeen Lives Lost.

Halifax, Sept. 11.—A Yarmouth dispatch says that the news that the schooner Georgiana, of that place, which was being towed towards Halifax, had capsized and with the loss of all hands, created great excitement. The captain and crew all hailed from the Acadian parish of Tuxedo, 13 miles from Yarmouth, and all were quite young men and most of them unmarried. The disaster has stricken Tuxedo with grief as the loss is amongst the most mournful of the parish. The list of the crew is as follows: E. Leblanc, 23, single, captain of Tuxedo; Morrell Porter, Raymond A. Leblanc, Raymond Surette, Frank A. Porter, Eugene Surette, Achille Leblanc, Eli Porter, Philip Bolduc, George Porter, Leander Porter, all of Tuxedo; and single: Leonard Porter, single, of Plymouth; John Surette and George Surette, both of Pinkney's Point, married; August Surette, of Pinkney's Point, single; Isiah Porter and Annie Leblanc, of the same parish. This is the last of men shipped. One of them afterwards left the vessel but which one the owners cannot tell. They are sure there were but sixteen men on the boat.

The Georgiana was owned by H. & N. Blouin of Yarmouth, was ninety tons and was built at Shelburne in 1888. She had about one thousand quintals of fish and was at Lahave for bait a fortnight ago and would be just about coming in for another supply.

New York, Sept. 12.—The Herald's San Salvador dispatch says that about forty persons were killed and sixty more or less injured in the earthquake which occurred early Wednesday morning. Reports from outside the city are coming in slowly, but it is believed the mortality list will reach into the hundreds. The panic has not yet passed, and the city, but earthquakes, by turns feeble and violent, continue at irregular intervals. Everybody expects the climax to come Sept. 21st, on account of the equinox, as experience shows that time phenomenon exerts a great influence on local earthquakes. It is not unlikely that the city will be made a total wreck. The details of the ruin of towns in the axis of the earthquake are very meagre. Of 320 houses at Comasagua only eight remain standing. The loss of life there is great.

QUEER HABITS OF MONKE.

Thinking over this curious subject—the survival of the fittest—as far as the lower animal creation goes, it has its queer side. I cannot help presenting a monkey trait. Is a monkey really bad at heart? Or shall I say a good word for him, and consider that he may be intent on doing what he believes is a kindness to a sickening man when he is actually harming him? Prince Krapotkin, who is a brilliant scientific naturalist, in an article entitled "Mutual Aid Among Animals," tells of the assistance chimpanzees, sajous, sakis, mandrills, and baboons give one another. I can cite, as an eyewitness, how one big monkey will take charge of a smaller one, protect him against the bullies in the cage, and act as a horse for his minor friend to mount. But I never saw the bigger divide his bit of apple with the lesser monkey. I yield to no one in my respect for the dog, but I have yet to note how Rasper brings a bone with his compliments to Nero. I have often given him scraps of food, and he has never been greedy, but the greasier invariably bolted the larger share, just as would have done the vulgar pigs. I have ridden the best tempered of horses, kind to man and his mate, but a tiger when he was fed, that is towards his own kind, for when in rough campaigning measures of corn on the ear were thrown on the ground, it was his habit with fore and hind feet and with open jaw to drive off every other horse until he was satisfied. There is a sick monkey in a cage. At once a careful keeper removes the ill one, who is contagious. If the invalid is not taken away, the other healthy monkeys will crowd the sick one to death. There may be this explanation about it. As the temperature of the ill monkey diminishes—that is, if he has no fever—the other monkeys may press around him closely so as to keep him warm. Anyhow, by getting on top of him, they smother him and hasten his end. If I were speculative and forgiving to monkeys, I might say that nature had no use for an ailing monkey, and wanted to get rid of him as expeditiously as possible, and hence came this curious instinct to the well to do monkeys. What truth there may be in the stories told by ranchmen of the speedy death of the crippled steer, despatched by the herd, I do not touch for. This whole subject is deserving of greater study. As monkeys, men have them in the large say: "This crowding of a sick monkey is done through pure cussedness."—Harper's Weekly.

DUEL BETWEEN ELEPHANTS.

About seven or eight hundred yards below the crowd watching the fight were two tuskers. The one somewhat nearer us, a burly, stout built beast, with short, powerful tusks, was evidently getting much the worst of the combat, and the furrows in his sides and ears plainly indicated scums run by his antagonists' tusks. On the rise of the hill was his rival, a still larger animal, possessing the advantage of longer, gleaming tusks. It was a lost fight, and in a few minutes the victor, with a quick rush at the other, made a good thrust at the side, and, though there was a severe struggle, the task went in its full length.

The wounded tusker's roar of pain and rage was pitiful to hear, and though he would have escaped if he could, the other kept close behind and administered thrust after thrust, but not in any vital part. Presently, wheeling around, they came together with a mighty smash. This was about the only stand made, and the weaker was quickly overpowered by the more powerful and fresher victor. The thruster, now put behind the shoulder and into the body, quickly disabled the poor brute, and in a few minutes the great beast rolled over dead.—Wilkes Spirit.

MODERN SURGERY.

Sensations Experienced Upon Witnessing an Operation.

Nobody ever forgets a first visit to an operating room. It is not what he sees there so much as his own feelings which indelibly impress his memory. An involuntary dizziness and nausea assail nine out of ten even of the medical students who gather around the surgeon's table for the first time. Many are overcome by the strange influence which seizes them and are obliged to retire from the ether-burdened air. But it is not what they see which gives rise to the peculiar sensations. The feeling usually passes away soon after an operation has been actually begun under their eyes. The sensation gives way to a great surprise which comes to them when they realize that modern surgery is not cruel, but merciful and painless. The surgeon becomes wonderful and astonishing when they find that the scenes before them are not so shocking and sanguinary, but that operations are for the most part demonstrative of cool mechanical skill at almost bloodless. Frozen or not Frozen ? THAT IS THE QUESTION

And not only to the residents of this Province, but to every bread-winner in the Dominion, and to others as well, is the above a significant query.

To give an accurate or even an indefinite reply to this important question is not the purpose of the people who pay for this advertisement. Whatever injury may have resulted from frost is now beyond repair, and why should it occasion needless worry. WE MUST WEAR CLOTHING!

A GREAT SCHEME.

London, Aug. 25.—The Times publishes a three column article upon the projected inter-continental railroad, which, when completed, will link the South and Central American Republics with each other and with the United States. In discussing these plans the Times expresses the opinion that James T. Blake, the United Secretary of State, is "man of grandiose ideas, and if, as is quite possible, he is the next president there will be some chance of carrying the scheme." Continuing, the Times says: "The project aims to join the markets of North and South America but there is no place for a general commercial system, even in the relations of the several republics. The railroad when completed would have to compete with the great ways on either side of the neck and from Valparaiso to San Francisco the existing means of transit are simpler and cheaper than they could ever be made on a railroad. It is obvious that the scheme equally has political as well as commercial ends in view. To join the North and South American republics, even though the first outward sign of union will be nothing but an iron rod, with the supreme centre of the republican government at Washington, is a conception of captivating magnitude." The Times also asserts that the recent proposals on the part of the United States looking to the establishment of reciprocity with the various republics of the continent were generally received by the countries to which overtures were made as specimens of absolute cynical Anglo-Saxon selfishness, and that the proposals created a profound distrust in American bargains. Touching upon the question as to where the capital is to be found for the enormous enterprise, the Times expresses the opinion that it cannot be found in the needy Southern republics and that it must be raised in the United States. The latter would be obliged to guarantee the interest on the cost of construction, and there is a strong conviction that the United States would reciprocate itself for this guarantee at the expense of the republics further south. Many people of practical opinions, the Times says, believe that the scheme will never be realized. The price demanded by the United States for guaranteeing the bonds of the railroad would be in commercial and political concessions which the other republics could not grant. The United States is regarded as the rival of England, and as the States of the southern half of the continent were developed by English capital, there is an important party which will resist any step towards closer commercial and political relations with the United States as a step towards the loss of their independence.

Mr. S., Mrs. and Miss Thorne have gone to Montreal on a visit.

Alb. Edgar is erecting a magnificent terrace in front of his own residence.

Messrs. Nation & Hopper are said to have purchased the Molesworth block, corner of 6th and R. street.

Mr. F. H. Hesson, Mrs. Hesson and family returned last week from a visit to friends at Stratford.

Mr. W. H. Hooper reports considerable business in his auctioneer and commission trade. He will make things hum if anyone can.

A. W. Gerow, Souris, took a dose of acetic the other day instead of something else. He came near bidding his friends "good-night."

Mr. B. Trotter returned from Barrie last week with a car of general purpose horses. This is the ninth car this season.

It took at the rate of four pounds of binding twine per acre to bind fifteen acres of Oats at Lachie McLean's farm near Rapid City.

The Rev. J. M. Douglas, of Moosomin will occupy the Presbyterian church, in this city, on Sunday, Sept. 27th.

Remember the South Brandon show at Plum Creek on Sat. It is a pity Winnipeg has not admitted its mongrel exhibition of fireworks and dogs.

The Northern Pacific will sell round trip tickets to Winnipeg Industrial Exhibition, from Sept. 27th to Oct. 1st inclusive, at one fare, viz: $4, good to return on Oct. 6th.

Mr. D. S. Davies, who is well known in this city in musical circles, left for Winnipeg on Friday morning where he will assume charge of Zion church choir.

The Rev. Mr. Roddick is having some photographic views of his buildings, crops, etc., taken to send to friends in Nova Scotia. This is a capital immigration idea.

Mr. Finlay, from near Kincardine, Ont., is now visiting with his nephew, Mr. Thompson, the Massey agent at Plum Creek. He, too, is delighted with this country.

Mr. H. Larue, who was occupied in the Mail bookstore for the past three months, left for his home in Iowa, Ont. on Friday last. Bob made many warm friends during his stay in the city.

Mr. Hyndman, of Iroquois, Ont., father of T. B. Hyndman, to the south of Brandon, is now visiting these parts. He says his age is the only thing that prevents him from selling out his comfortable home and settling on our prairies.

Mr. Neil McLean, at one time proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, Kincardine, was a caller on the editor of the Mail this week. Mr. McLean is now in the C. P. R. service at Port Arthur, but is so pleased with the prairie that he is likely to buy a farm and locate here.

Willie McDougall, the little boy who risked his life in saving his comrade, George Burns, from drowning, was recently presented with the Royal Humane Society's medal. It was the first instance of a presentation from this society in England to any person in Manitoba.

Mr. Geo. Cornack, of Caithness, Scotland, was in the city, and was driven by J. C. Sinclair to the experimental farm, and Mr. Sandison's. Mr. Cornack was one of the originators of the Crofters' agitation in Scotland, and is president of the Fishermen's Association. He has taken a farm in Manitoba.

Mr. R. Rogers, of Clearwater, intends erecting a grain machine at that point. It is said that Mr. Rogers recently offered Mr. W. Thompson two thousand dollars for the wheat from a field of one hundred acres on his farm. Mr. Alex. McLaren and others at Clearwater have fields of grain equally as good as that of Mr. Thompson.

Mr. J. W. Horne, at one time one of Brandon's boomers but now one of the fat men of Vancouver, and M. P. P. and president of several companies besides, is now visiting in Brandon. Mr. Horne thinks Vancouver is not only a place but is likely to remain so, but at the same time he acknowledges the rapid and substantial growth of Brandon.

Mr. D. H. Purden, president of the Brandon & Southwestern Railway and Coal Co., has returned from Ottawa. While in the capital he succeeded in having the location and plans of the road from Beloeux to the eastern slope of the Turtle mountains approved by the Governor-General-in-Council. Mr. Purden says the line will be built this fall to the company's coal land, which will be worked and coal placed in the market early in the winter.

Mr. Ogilvie, the celebrated Montreal wheat buyer, will be in Brandon next week.

The Virden Beaks fine drunks $20 a piece. Evidently Virden has an unsuitable atmosphere for a jollification.

Virden has a 950 lb fire bell. W. H. Hall's pipe on the top of that would make the thing a heavy weight.

As Mr. J. Kavanagh declines the honor of succeeding to St. Peter's chair at Rome we next suggest the name of Wm. Wilson, the blacksmith.

Louis Riel is to have a monument, while millions of better Frenchmen have long since gone to ashes without even a rough stone to mark their last resting place. There is no accounting for sympathy.

The North Dakota officials attempted to inspect grain at Grand Forks under the new rules, but were successfully resisted by the railway people who refused to stop the trains or open the cars.

The Winnipeg Tribune has a half column report of an abduction at the western suburbs of this city, which turns out to be nothing more than a row between a drunken man and a drunken woman.

Coal freights have gone up 51 cents a ton, though the Northern Pacific was going to give us competition. Before the advance, however, Sinclair & Co. got in 200 tons from Pennsylvania.

McDiarmid and McDonald, and though it is a most difficult matter to keep the sufferer still, he is getting along nicely.

A good deal of interest was manifested in the drawing for the prize organ at Montgomery's on Saturday, which was conducted by a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. A. Jukes, C. E. Miller and J. M. Robinson on behalf of persons holding numbers, the lucky person being W. J. Morrison, his number being 151, which drew the organ.

Wm. Greer is thoroughly satisfied with the success of his horse, Billy Brown, at the Winnipeg races. In the 2,40 trot he made 2:32, and in the 2:30 he made 2:31, securing the 2nd, 3rd and fourth heats. He has taken the first money at the Portage and Regina races, besides. Mr. Greer thinks there is but one other horse in the country to outstep him.

Prof. R. B. George, already well known in this city, opens his musical convention this (Thursday) evening in McDiarmid hall at 8 p.m. The Professor is himself an excellent singer, and having taken instructions from the best voice trainers in the world since his last visit, he is now master of the art of voice culture. It will pay all who can to attend the convention this evening.

In our reference to the sale of binders and twine last week we should have said Mr. Wm. Johnson's credit was for the sales at Plum Creek and Wawanesa with Brandon, and the same is true of Smith & Shirriff. Of course the figures quoted do not represent all the sales made in the country by the houses they represent, any more than the sales made by the other local firms represent the local sales of their eastern manufacturers.

The citizens of Brandon and district will be pleased to know that the hospital building is rapidly approaching completion; the roof is now on and plastering will be commenced immediately. It is a handsome and substantial structure of the most modern design, both in building and equipment, and will reflect a great deal of credit on the builder. Those gentlemen and the municipalities who so generously contributed towards the erection of the building will also be pleased to learn the building will be completed not later than 15 November next.

Rev. Geo. Lockhart, a former McKillop boy preached an eloquent sermon to a large congregation in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening last. He is located at a small little village called Alexander, on the Canadian Pacific railway, west of Brandon, where he has a very promising charge. He is here enjoying a two months' holiday, and leaves for his western home next week, and will take with him as a help-meet and life partner, an estimable young lady from the county of Lambton—Scaforth Expositor.
